ORIENTAL POPPIES

NEW GIANT FLOWERED SORTS

Grown From Root Cuttings 2 years old
Flowering Field Plants

WHEN TO PLANT—Oriental Poppies die down and become dormant in August and September. At this time and through October is the only time that large field grown plants can be successfully moved.

CULTURE—Poppies must have a well drained soil in a sunny location. The crowns must be protected from moisture, sand is very useful. The plants should be well marked so they will not be injured while dormant.

Follow These 10 Keys To Success

1. SELECT A RICH, WELL DRAINED SOIL. Mums are quick growing plants that do best in a rich, well drained soil rich in available plant food. Be sure that water cannot stand on site selected.
2. SUNNY LOCATION—NOT CROWDED. A sunny location not hemmed in by trees or tall shrubs is essential. Mums love lots of fresh air.
3. SINGLE SHOOT PLANTS, PLANTED APR. 20 TO JUNE 20. Select single shoot plants, either new potted ones or divide your old clumps. They are vastly superior in growth and bloom.
4. SPACE 18 IN. TO 2 FT. APART. This is very important as it allows for proper growth and ample room to cultivate.
5. WATER WELL—but not too much. As chrysanthemums grow fast they must not be allowed to dry out.
6. CULTIVATE WELL TILL AUGUST 20. After August 20 the side shoots that make plants for next year begin to form. Cultivation after that date will break many off.
7. PINCH BACK. About August 15 when plants are growing rapidly cut or pinch the tops back to knee height, about two feet. A well rounded branched plant will result.
8. SUMMER FERTILIZATION. After pinching back, when the new branching starts, give each plant half a palmful of fertilizer, 0-10-10, 2-12-6 or with as little nitrogen as possible.
9. PICK FLOWERS. Picking flowers is a good practice as it encourages new root growth. Cut off all flowers when blooming period is over.
10. WINTER MULCH. If possible cover crowns with an inch or so of sand then mulch with excelsior or straw.

What Should I Do?

PLANT LICE—APHIDS—Spray with nicotine spray, eliminate ants nearby.

LEAVES BURN AT BASE—Maybe too crowded, too wet a location, plants not transplanted and divided, plants hungry—fertilize well.

TOO TALL—FALL OVER—Plants not cut back—soil too rich in nitrates—too much shade—older taller varieties—select newer, more dwarf varieties.

DO NOT BLOOM—Too shady—too rich a soil—not divided and reset.

PLANT A ROW OF MUMS

Hardy Chrysanthemums develop to their fullest extent when grown in rows like carrots or cabbage in your vegetable garden. Plant them 2 ft. apart in rows at least 3 ft. center to center.

Rocknoll's New Mums Are Southern Ohio Bred

For many years growing the hardy chrysanthemums has been our personal hobby. Most of these are grown in small quantities in our test gardens. However, this year we decided to grow larger quantities and present them to you in what we know to be one of the very best chrysanthemum lists offered in America. Below is a view of one of our mum fields. This last fall we bloomed over 30,000 clumps of outdoor chrysanthemums. The plants we ship in the spring are all strong well rooted plants that will produce large clumps by flowering time. They may be field divisions, large hardened rooted cuttings, but will mostly be strong 2¼-in. potted plants.
